| Frozen Embryo Transfer Cycles- Please ensure understanding |
|---|
| As part of an IVF Freeze All Cycle, any suitable embryos will be frozen for future use. A Frozen Embryo Transfer (FET) is considered a new treatment cycle and has a separate cycle fee. Stellar Fertility offers a reduced fee for the first FET following an IVF Freeze All Cycle. This fee is $2,900 upfront, with an estimated out-of-pocket cost of $894. Subsequent FET cycles are $4,350 with an estimated out-of-pocket cost of $2,344. You will receive a detailed Informed Financial Consent prior to your cycles. O*ut-of-pocket costs are calculated assuming that applicable Medicare Rebates and Safety Net Benefit have been reached and claimed. If you haven't reached the Medicare Safety Net or your FET occurs in a new calendar year, your out-of-pocket costs may be higher.* |

| Fresh Embryo Transfer Cycles |
| As part of a Fresh Embryo transfer cycle a predetermined suitable embryo will be transferred typically between 2-5 days following your egg collection. This embryo transfer will cost approximately $545 up front with an estimated $371 out-of-pocket. This will be included in your cycle fees and quoted in your Informed Financial Consent if your cycle is for a fresh embryo transfer. |

Additional Fee Information

1. All medications listed with the Pharmaceutical Benefits Scheme (PBS) will require a co-payment to the pharmacy of approximately $25 per script. Any possible additional medications prescribed that are not on the PBS will be charged at full cost.

2. Your upfront costs and out of pocket for hospital admission fees may depend on your level of Private Health cover. If you have private health insurance for IVF, contact your provider, and quote the item applicable to your procedure (i.e., 13212/13215) to obtain rebate figures.

3. Blood tests and external ultrasound imaging scans performed during an IVF Cycle are not Medicare eligible and may incur private costs for patients set by the service provider.

 Out-of-pocket cancellation fees only apply when a cycle is cancelled by the patient due to a non-medical conflict or change in personal circumstances. Where cancellation is medically necessary or recommended for clinical reasons, the cancellation will be bulk billed, and no out-of-pocket cancellation fee will apply.
